

Ancient Central Asia and Beyond

Lecture Series

organized by the

Hellenistic Central Asia Research Network (HCARN)

20 October 2021 Panel discussion on the current situation in Afghanistan, cultural heritage, and the scholarly community

Various Speakers

3 November 2021 New Thoughts on Rituals and Religions of Central Asia in the Achaemenid Period

Wu Xin, History Department, Fudan University, Shanghai

17 November 2021 Sogdiana and its international trade in the 1st-2nd centuries CE: New numismatic data

Alexander Naymark, Department of Fine Arts, Design, Art History, Hofstra University, New York

1 December 2021 Research of the South Aral Karakalpak-Russian Complex Archaeological Expedition at Bol'shoi K'irk-K'iz in 2021

Archil Balakhvantsev, Centre for the Archaeology of West and Central Asia, Institute of Oriental Studies, Russian Academy of Sciences, Moscow

15 December 2021 Inscriptions and figurative representations from Kafir-kala in Samarkand

Alisher Begmatov, Turfanforschung, Berlin-Brandenburgische Akademie der Wissenschaften, Berlin

The lectures will be held on Wednesdays on Zoom at 15:00 CET and are planned to have a maximum duration of one hour including discussion.

Please check bactria.org on the day of the talk for the Zoom link.

The lecture series will be continued after a winter break. Please reserve the following dates:
5 January, 19 January, 2 February, 16 February 2022.